so heavy today as earlier in the week.

Packers were bearish again this morning, and opening bids were all of 5gipto lower than yesterday's average. Later offers improved so that they were hardly a nickel off, but even then sellers, who were asking stronger money, refused to cut loose, and at a late hour nothing of consequence had been done. In the end most of the hogs were cashed at prices that were nearly a nickel lower. One packer laid out, however, toward the close, after other huyers had filled their orders, things weakened off, leaving around forty loads still in first hands. At a late hour there was nothing moving, and what bids were being made looked a flat nickel lower than the early trade, or mostly a dime below yesterday's average.
